

JOKES

The hard-working man

One afternoon, the boss paid a visit to his company. He saw a staff deeply devoted to his work, so he approached him, pat his shoulder and complimented him. 'Good job! Keep your hard work! 5 years ago, I used to do the duties you are now doing.'

The staff smiled, pat the boss' shoulder and said, 'You also need to keep your hard work because 5 years ago, I used to do the duties you are now doing.'

The Enquiry Desk

My friend, Becky, worked in the bank. Her workplace was adjacent to the entrance. Visitors always came to her workplace and asked her all sorts of questions. Becky was so distressed. One day she thought of a great idea, she put a 'HERE IS NOT THE ENQUIRY DESK' sign in front of her desk. However, since then, visitors came in and asked her, 'Where's the Enquiry desk, then?'

The teacher of Primary 1

My cousin, James, was a primary 2 student. He was so smart, but his teachers complained that he was too active and talkative. One day, he told the principal, 'I've already learned a lot in this school, I think I don't need to attend classes from tomorrow onwards.'

The principal asked, 'Are you sure? You are just in Primary 2, what do you think you can do?' James replied proudly, 'OH, I can be the teacher of Primary 1 class.'