

The teacher's question

While Bobby was having dinner with his parents, he said happily: "Today Miss Wong asked our class a question, and I was the only one who gave the correct answer."

Bobby's mother was exhilarated and asked: "What was Miss Wong's question?"

Bobby replied: "Miss Wong asked, 'Who haven't done your homework?'"

My clever dog

Jason was discussing about his clever dog with Tomson.

Jason said: "You know, Punky is really a smart dog. Every morning, he brings me the newspapers of the day."

Tomson said: "Oh, you shouldn't be surprised! It's an easy task, and every dog can manage it."

Jason replied confidently: "Yes, but the main thing is that I haven't subscribed for the newspapers."

An excuse

In the midnight, the policeman found that a man was prying the door of other people's house. So, he approached the man and asked: "Could you explain why you need to pry the door of other people's house in the midnight?"

The man answered immediately: "Oh, sir, I found a key outside this building, and now I'm trying to see which door can it open, and so I can return the key to its owner."